

The Cross Creek Update

May 31st, 2009

Good Morning Church,

Good news - Chuck will be back to lead our worship this Sunday. Not so good news, he won't be able to return to Jacksonville until Saturday (Wed. was his original return date). Please pray for safety as he travels home from his mission's trip to Liberia.

The last two Sundays we have been talking about "Community." It is in community that we serve one another and it is through community we develop, refine and unleash our spiritual gifts and talents.

Community is one of the four key values of Cross Creek. The other three are Worship, Nurture and Restoration. These values form the foundation for our church's philosophy of ministry and are central to all we do.

This summer we will take an in-depth look at our four values during the adult education hour on Sundays at 9:30 am beginning June 14. We will discover why these values are key and why they are relevant to everything we do. Check out our web site at 'crosscreekchurch.us' to see what we believe about Worship, Community, Nurture and Restoration.

Please make it a priority to attend these sessions. It is important for every person who attends Cross Creek to understand our key values.

And for the next two weeks during the adult education hour, Jim Olive will be teaching on "Discovering God's Way of Handling Money." The last two sessions will be on: "Saving and Investing" (May 31); "Teaching Your Children" (June 7).

Vacation Bible School is right around the corner (June 22-26), if you can volunteer for VBS, please call Kelly Redway, our Director of Children's Ministry, at 287-2771 or email: kids@crosscreekchurch.us

See you Sunday as Chuck is back and leads us in worship.

Have a fantastic week. Typing on the key board for Chuck,

Jan
